Overview

State law requires each police department, sheriff's office, and the New York State Police to report incidents in which a police officer or peace officer used force against an individual while on duty to the state Division of Criminal Justice Services (DCJS). This reporting requirement took effect July 11, 2019. The law also requires DCJS to publish a comprehensive report outlining the circumstances of each of those incidents as reported to the agency.

This inaugural report provides a statistical overview of 6,052 use of force incidents that occurred from the law's effective date through Oct. 31, 2020, and reported by 280 police agencies through an online, interim tool. It details the type or types of force used in each incident; the circumstances; number of subjects and officers involved in each incident; and the race/ethnicity, sex and age of subjects and officers. DCJS implemented a permanent data collection system effective Nov. 1, 2020; please see Appendix C for additional information.

A spreadsheet posted to the Statistics page of the DCJS website also presents incident-level data for the 6,052 incidents reported. Except where noted, each row represents one incident and includes the following variables: agency name; incident date; city, town or village of occurrence; county of occurrence; incident circumstance; use of force type; and demographics of officer(s) and subject(s).

The DCJS website contains additional information about the use of force reporting requirement, including state regulations, notifications from DCJS to police agencies about their obligations to report this information and frequently asked questions.

Reported Incidents

Police agencies reported 6,052 use of force incidents, during which 8,381 separate types of force were used by officers from July 11, 2019, through Oct. 31, 2020.

Table 1 shows the number of times each use of force – either weapon type or physical conduct – was used in an incident. Impact weapon/electronic control weapon was the most common, followed by firearm and chemical agent. Appendix B provides more information on weapon types outlined in the law; Appendices C and E detail modifications to use of force categories and action types that were made during the period covered in this report.

Ten individuals died after officers used force; those incidents involved a total of 16 officers. All subjects were male: seven were White and three were Black; six were of non-Hispanic ethnicity; and four were reported as ethnicity unknown or not reported. Five males ranged in age from 30 to 39 and five were 45 years old or older.

*New York City Police Department (NYPD) only reported to the state incidents where a firearm was used or discharged, or where a chemical agent, electronic control weapon, or impact weapon was used or deployed. The agency did not indicate in its reporting if a chokehold or restraint was used or if there was conduct that resulted in serious bodily injury or death. The NYPD publishes use of force information on its website.

Executive Law §837-t - Use of Force Statute

1. The chief of every police department, each county sheriff, and the superintendent of state police shall report to the division, in a form and manner as defined in regulations by the division, any instance or occurrence in which a police officer, as defined in subdivision thirty-four of section 1.20 of the criminal procedure law, or a peace officer, as defined in section 2.10 of the criminal procedure law, employs the use of force as follows:

a. brandishes, uses or discharges a firearm at or in the direction of another person; or

b. uses a chokehold or similar restraint that applies pressure to the throat or windpipe of a person in a manner that may hinder breathing or reduce intake of air; or

c. displays, uses or deploys a chemical agent, including, but not limited to, oleoresin capsicum, pepper spray or tear gas; or

d. brandishes, uses or deploys an impact weapon, including, but not limited to, a baton or billy; or

e. brandishes, uses or deploys an electronic control weapon, including, but not limited to, an electronic stun gun, flash bomb or long range acoustic device; or

f. engages in conduct which results in the death or serious bodily injury of another person. Serious bodily injury is defined as bodily injury that involves a substantial risk of death, unconsciousness, protracted and obvious disfigurement, or protracted loss of impairment of the function of a bodily member, organ or mental faculty.

2. On an annual basis, the commissioner shall conspicuously publish on the department's website a comprehensive report including the use of force information received under subdivision one of this section during the preceding year. Such reports shall not identify the names of the individuals involved, but for each event reported, shall list the date of the event, the location disaggregated by county and law enforcement agencies involved, the town or city, and any additional relevant location information, a description of the circumstances of the event, and the race, sex, ethnicity, age, or, if unknown, approximate age of all persons engaging in the use of force or suffering such injury.

Data Collection Systems

The Division of Criminal Justice Services implemented an interim, online reporting tool that allowed police agencies to comply with the law because there was a short window of time between enactment and effective date. At the same time, DCJS began working with the state Office of Information Technology Services (ITS) to design, develop and implement a permanent data collection system.

While the interim tool provided a necessary, short-term solution, its functionality was limited. Agencies were unable to report they had no use of force incidents and the interim tool did not have the robust quality assurance checks that are integral to DCJS's permanent data reporting systems. Police agencies reported use of force incidents through this interim tool from the effective date of the law through Oct. 31, 2020. Prior to publication of this report, DCJS proactively contacted agencies to resolve data discrepancies and provided all agencies the opportunity to review the information they submitted for accuracy and completeness.

Effective Nov. 1, 2020, DCJS and ITS implemented a permanent data collection system that allows DCJS to track reporting compliance, ensure data quality and enable police agencies to fully comply with current state and federal use of force reporting requirements.

Data Elements and Reporting Modifications

Each incident may involve multiple officers, subjects and/or types of force used. There are 14 different data elements collected for each incident: agency name; incident date; city, town or village of occurrence; county of occurrence; incident circumstance; use of force type; and age, sex, race and ethnicity of officer(s) and subject(s):

Data Elements
	Police Agency Name
	Incident Date
Incident Details	City/Town/Village (where incident occurred)
	County (where incident occurred)
	Incident Circumstance
	Officer Use of Force Type
Officer Details (Up to 10	Officer Sex
Officers can be reported	Officer Race
per incident)	Officer Ethnicity
	Officer Age
	Subject Sex
Subject Details (Up to 10	Subject Race
Subjects can be reported per incident)	Subject Ethnicity
	Subject Age

Data Elements

Agencies are able to report the type of weapon and how the weapon was used (action type) during the incident. They also are able to report when an officer used a chokehold or similar restraint, engaged in conduct that resulted in serious bodily injury and/or engaged in conduct that resulted in death.

In an effort to address ambiguities in the law, modifications were made to how agencies were able to report action type during the 16-month period covered in this report. DCJS made the changes after receiving feedback from police agencies and consulting with the state's Municipal Police Training Council (MPTC), an eight-member, independently appointed body that sets minimum training requirements for municipal police recruits and peace officers and develops model policies for law enforcement, among other responsibilities.

From the effective date of the law through Dec. 31, 2019, agencies could choose one or more of the following action types to describe how each weapon was used: brandished, used, discharged, displayed and/or deployed (Table 1).

weapon and Action Types Reported: Jul	y 11, 2019 - L	vecemp	er 31, 2019
Weapon	Action Type

Electronic Control Weapon	Brandished Used Deployed
Impact Weapon	Brandished	Used	Deployed

Table 1 Waapan and Action Types Banartad: 14/4 11 2010 December 21 2010

From Jan. 1, 2020, through Oct. 31, 2020, action types for firearm were consolidated into one action type; impact and electronic control weapons were consolidated into a single weapon category; and two of action types for chemical agent were consolidated (Table 2).

Weapon and Action Types Reported: January 1, 2020 - October 31, 2020
Weapon	Acti	on Type
Firearm	Brandished, Used, or Discharged
Impact or Electronic Control Weapon Brandished, Used, or Deployed
Chemical Agent	Displayed	Used/Deployed

As development of a permanent data collection system progressed, additional modifications were made to weapon and action type definitions to further help ensure that information reported would accurately and clearly reflect how officers were using force while on duty. Effective Nov. 1, 2020, police agencies are able to report one of four weapon and one of two action types, depending on the weapon (Table 3).
